ADDENDUM TO THE PCRA APPENDIX

AND NOW COMES, Petitioner, Gerald A. Sandusky, by and through his counsel, Alexander H. Lindsay, Jr., Esq., and J. Andrew Salemme, Esq., and the Lindsay Law Firm, P.C., and files this Addendum to the PCRA Appendix.

Attached is a copy of an e-mail exchange between D.S. and the interviewer who conducted the interview previously filed as an Addendum to the PCRA Appendix. The e-mail pertains to D.S. undergoing repressed memory therapy. Identifying information has been redacted, but a non-redacted copy is available for inspection by the Office of Attorney General and the PCRA court and can be provided to both.

Respectfully submitted

"Yes, actually both of my therapists have suggested that I have/had repressed memories, and that's why we have been working on looking back on my life for triggers. My therapist has suggested that I may still have more repressed memories that have yet to be revealed, and this could be a big cause of the depression that I still carry today. We are still currently working on that."

I think it was more like this, what do you think?

Hi, D [REDACTED] -- This is what I wrote down from our phone call after the interview. Is it right?

After the interview, I realized I forgot to ask specifically about repressed memories, so I called D [REDACTED] on my cell:

Yes, actually both of my therapists thought I had repressed memories, and that's why we were looking back into my life, looking for triggers. And my therapist thinks that I still have more repressed memories that I haven't remembered yet, and that may be what is causing my depression. So we are working on that.
